AEK gives us a slap in the face

RALE
RASIC

AEK Athens' visit to Adelaide last week proved to be a slap in the face of the public. Worse still, it did harm to the reputation of Greek soccer.

The image of Greek sport did not deserve to be tarnished the way it was at Hindmarsh Stadium — and elsewhere in Adelaide.

Those who came to Hindmarsh Stadium — and I pity them — saw an

MIMIS' GOAL DOES IT

Western Suburbs, the club of former AEK and Greece captain Mimis Papaioannou, has won promotion to the Victorian State League.

With two matches to go, Wests can lose the title only on goal difference, but that's unlikely as Wests play last-placed Ardeer at Ralph Street, Sunshine, on Saturday.

Wests clinched the point they needed when they drew 1-1 with fellow Greek club Collingwood City. Papaioannou scored Wests' goal — his fifth in six championship matches.

The team, pictured above is, standing from left: Ray Pocock (coach), Bernie Parkin, Joe Kiss, Jim Daperis, Ian McCarthy, Andy Czapnik, Jim Conditis (reserves coach). ordinary side which was being paid the biggest money in Australian soccer history.

And to think that we had to disrupt the PSL competition for this!

The AEK players looked like a bunch of spoiled prima donnas. Their captain, Nicolaou, acted disgracefully and the right back, Intzoglou, was sent off early on for kicking and spitting at Agenor Muniz.

Some of the AEK players then kicked everything that moved. The referee must have had 10 pairs of dark glasses not to see what was going on.

At half time, AEK wanted to stop playing. Officials had to plead with the so-called champions of Greece before they finally reappeared — 30 minutes later!

They were claiming the referee should be replaced. Granted, he was having a bad match, but it was no excuse for their behaviour.

Even the most loyal AEK supporter was whistling and screaming by the time the players finally returned. Understandably, they all wanted their money back.

In fact, on this performance, AEK should have paid the spectators, rather than vice versa.

AEK made a mockery of the many receptions organised for the team, by failing to attend them.

Adelaide's deputy Lord Mayor, Alderman Steve Condous, blasted the club when only a handful of AEK people turned up for a civic reception organised for the tourists.

To the above total of players, one must add senior soccer players and ladies registered — a total of 55,610.

Grand total of soccer players throughout Australia: 433,957

Cole in the gun

Gary Cole will be a marked man when Heidelberg United meets AEK Athens at Olympic Park tonight (Wednesday) at 8 pm.

Cole, who is featured on page 8 of this issue, scored a memorable hat-trick in Victoria's 4-0 trashing of the Greek champions last Sunday week. AEK's champion midfielder Mimis Domazos has told Pressmen that Cole could never do it again and that the result of that match was not a true reflection of AEK's worth.

Five Heidelberg players — Cole, Jimmy Rooney, John Yzendoorn, Yakka Banovic and Jim Tansey — were in the victorious Victorian side, so AEK now has the chance to prove its claim.

Heidelberg officials were given special permission by the Australian Soccer Federation to stage this match. The ASF agreed because without a fourth game, Heidelberg would have lost financially on the tour.

In other games in Australia so far, AEK beat South Australia 1-0 and drew 5-5 with NSW after equalising in the last minute through Dusan Bajevic who had earlier scored with a penalty. (see page 7).

EDITORIAL ETHNIC NAMES

The Australian Soccer Federation's determination to abolish ethnic names by 1981 appears to be a case of reality being obscured by idealism.

The businessmen who head the ASF and who are trying to "sell" soccer to other businessmen believe their task will be made easier by names with which these businessmen can associate.

Others who believe that district names rather than ethnic names will broaden the game's appeal and increase spectator interest, may have their hearts in the right place but the exact location of their brains is open to question.

The idealistic scene painted by the ASF is that new names eventually will make soccer an "Australian" sport supported heavily by the Australian people.

Who are the Australian people? They are Greek, Italian, Turkish, Maltese, Yugoslav, Polish, German, British, Spanish, Czechoslovakian, Hungarian, Chilean, Argentinian, Austrian, Dutch, etc. etc. They are the people supporting soccer now!

The clubs with the biggest support are the clubs that have been most successful in cultivating the support of the Greek, Italian, Macedonian, Maltese and Croatian communities.

The reason is that these clubs were started by and are run for the benefit of these communities. They have proved the pioneers and the saviors of soccer in Australia. They are soccer.

Various other nationalities run soccer clubs with district names. Ninety-nine per cent of those clubs have virtually no spectator support.

In Victoria, the Metropolitan League clubs have district names because the Federation says they have no other choice.

Some of the clubs used to have support. They don't have it anymore.

Clubs that represent ethnic communities are proud to do so, and the representation is reinforced by the ethnic press. It makes as much sense to force the ethnic press to change to English as it does to give an ethnic club a "respectable" non-ethnic tag.

Greeks run Greek clubs for Greek members and they buy and sell players of all nationalities to keep themselves and the members happy. Why tell the Greek official he should step down for an official of a different nationality? Why bend over backwards to make an Italian club appear non-Italian so that anglosaxons will join it?

When you come right down to it, this entire "ethnic name" issue amounts to little more than racism. It's a case of anglo-saxons wishing not to associate with something that is not anglo-saxon.

If this were not the anglo-saxon attitude, then they would be going along to watch soccer games irrespective of the names attached to the teams or the people watching around them.

We believe that the decision to force clubs to change ethnic names is a decision that bows to bigotry. We cannot condone the bigotry, and therefore we cannot condone the capitulation.

Sport is self-expression and self-expression is freedom. Let's allow the clubs to be free as well. There is room for all. Let there be clubs with district names, let there be clubs with ethnic names, let there be clubs called Kangaroos, Kookaburras or Platypi.

Let district communities build up their local district club and let that club displace an ethnic club in a higher division. Let us not, however, tell anyone he is not allowed proudly to represent whatever he wants to represent.

School titles planned

A national schools championship will be run for the first time next year.

The competition, played on a zonal basis will be sponsored by Coca-Cola. The series is part of the Australian Soccer Federation's youth policy, referred to as "The new face of soccer."

Restrictions on imports is part of the new policy.

A survey conducted by the ASF shows that there are now 183,314 junior soccer players throughout Australia. Details of the survey are:

ARDZOGLU

The Greeks were committed to attending a promotion at a big regional shopping centre, where the players were to appear on the stage and sign autographs.

They did not turn up!

Neither did the players turn up at the Grecian Barbeque restaurant or the Shandon Hotel, where functions were organised for them. Only a few officials came along.

AEK's leaders were quoted a few times as apologising for all the disruption, explaining the players were busy preparing for the task at hand — the big match. The players were determined not only to win, but to entertain, we were told.

Some entertainment! I feel sorry for Arch Tambakis of TCB Promotions who did such a good job setting up the various functions which were snubbed by the AEK players.

I congratulate the promoters of the tour for their courage in going ahead with a most expensive gamble, but I believe the whole thing could have been done with a little more know-how.

Surely, the first principle is to make sure that the top players are among the tourists.

This was not the case with AEK, whose stars Ravousis, Nicoloudis, Stergioudas and most notably, Mavros, stayed at home to train with the Greek national team.

Courageous venture turns sour

Shrewd Victorian official Mike Weinstein had included as the most important clause of Santos' tour contract that Pele had to play.

Similarly, the promoters of Cruzeiro's tour made sure that the great Tostao and Dirceu Lopes came along, and Manchester United brought its big stars — Bobby Charlton, George Best, Brian Kidd, Denis Law, Nobby Stiles, etc.

However, when Olympiakos toured last year, it failed to bring along Kyriakos and Karavitis. The Greek national team also missed top players, including Mavros, when it toured earlier in 1978.

You could forgive the absence of AEK's stars if the other players had at least given their all. What they showed, however, was an insult to the sporting public.

I hear various levels of the ASF are blaming each other for having allowed AEK into the country at this time of year, when the team is obviously ill prepared and when disruptions to the PSL should not be tolerated.

So who pays the penalty? The sporting public! Only a few touring clubs — mainly British — have done justice to the Australian public. Manchester United had Denis Law sent off in Perth, but carried on in a sporting manner, without making a scene. Why couldn't AEK have done likewise?

As it was, they deserved the boos they got from the 7000 crowd at half time.

Top men needed

Isn't it common sense to appoint only the No. 1 referee to international fixtures?

The referee of the South Australia v. AEK match made the right decision in sending Intzoglou off the field but after that, he lost control of play. The AEK players started getting away with just about anything.

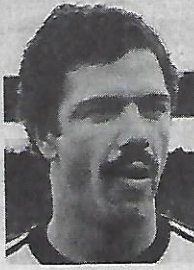

One 10-year-old kid made the comment: "Bloody referee," and used the man's name. I asked how it was that he knew the name. "I know him from junior soccer," the boy answered.

Whoever is responsible for the appointment of referees to such matches should examine the situation closely. Giving him this match wasn't fair on the referee himself.

Sth Australia deserved win

Had it not been for the tricky Ardzoglou, I would call AEK an ordinary regional team.

AEK concentrated on playing for Ardzoglou on the break. Both Vlado and Domazos sought to flick the ball into space for him and he managed to show some touches of brilliance.

INTZOGLU

Bajevic on the other hand, had a shocker.

He did however start the move that led to the only goal, playing the ball across with the outside of his foot to Ardzoglou who wrong-footed the defenders with a clever feint before hammering the ball into the net.

That and a shot which hit the post were the only memorable moves by AEK.

South Australia should have won by at least two goals.

There were some fine performances by Peter Boyle and Agenor Muniz in midfield, the defence was sound and John Kosmina showed up front that he is getting back his touch.

Graham Norris had some great scoring chances, as did Muniz Russell.

Ground conditions were perfect, so AEK could not make the excuses they made after their 0-4 loss to Victoria the previous Sunday.

Victoria is best

The Victorian State team deserves more plaudits nationwide for its remarkable 4-0 thrashing of AEK.

Victoria has had better international results this year than any of the other States. In fact, its victories over Partizan and AEK rank among the most memorable achieved by any State team in Australian soccer.

Victoria had proved that it is not necessary to have all the recognised stars in the State team.

What does matter is that dignity and pride are cultivated in the players and that they are moulded into a unit.

State coach Len McKendry has done this. He has had his team together for eight months now — training once a week!

Everyone in Victoria now wants to play for the State team, and that's the way it should be.

This is Victoria's record for 1979: v. Wisla Crakow 0-1, v. South Australia 2-0, v. Norwich City 2-4, v. Partizan Belgrade 1-0, v. AEK Athens 4-0.

What's more, it had the chances to beat Wisla Crakow as well.

I wonder how many Victorians Rudi Gutendorf will now select to the national squad.

MUNIZ

'Super stars' are still OK

The Australian Soccer Federation made provision for guest appearances by "Super star" players when it introduced its restrictions on imports last week.

Such players will be admitted if the ASF endorses their bona fides.

The restrictions apply to players on temporary residence visas. Only Philips League clubs or clubs in premier State competitions are allowed to register such players, and no club is allowed to register more than three a year.

Clubs which already have players on temporary residence may retain those players but any club which now has four or more won't be able to register any more.

All players at present in Australia will have their contracts terminated and be returned home within four years from now unless the players obtain permanent residence status in the meantime.

Under normal circumstances, players on temporary residence visas will not be able to transfer.

If such a transfer is approved by the ASF and the Immigration Department, no transfer fee will be payable and the club acquiring the player will have to meet all requirements of the Immigration Department.

A club transferring such a player may recoup payments made in respect of the player.

Clubs that breach the new regulations will be suspended by the ASF.

VIOLENCE FLARES: EXPULSION FOR TWO VSF CLUBS

Williamstown and Gladstone Park have been expelled from the Victorian Soccer Federation.

The members and officials of both clubs have been disqualified for life from membership of the VSF.

The players are exempt from the disqualification — all except J. Dovic, who was disqualified for life.

The junior teams of Gladstone Park are also expelled. The players will be free to move when the transfer season reopens.

All disqualifications are subject to appeal. Gladstone Park, of the District League First Division, was found guilty on a charge of having failed to control its officials and spectators during a game against Postal Institute on August 4.

This failure caused the match to be abandoned. Referee Bernie Upjohn reported that an official of Gladstone Park hit the linesman supplied by Postal Institute.

Gladstone Park has faced many other charges in the past.

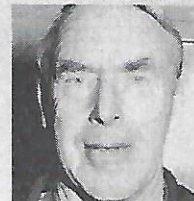

Williamstown player Dovic was disqualified after being found guilty of having assaulted a linesman supplied by North Dandenong in the Williamstown v. North Dandenong game on August 4.

Williamstown was charged with having failed to control its officials, players and spectators, thereby causing an assault on referee Russell Butler.

Butler was attacked with a chair and had his arm lacerated.

National job for Curran

Bill Curran (pictured) has been appointed coach of the national under 16 squad that will compete in the Lions Cup series in Singapore from December 2 to 12.

Curran is coach of the Victorian under 18 and under 16 teams which are the reigning Australian champions.

Johnston stays

Former Newcastle star, Craig Johnston, the 19-year-old who has made a name for himself in English football, has signed a new two-year contract, with Middlesbrough, the English side with which he has done so well.

This greatly reduces the chance of Johnston joining Rudi Gutendorf's World Cup squad.

When he returned home for a visit last season and played several matches with Newcastle KB United, Johnston said he would leave his options open until he knew what his future with Middlesbrough would hold.

He then played for Australia against Greece but insisted that while he wanted to play with Australia in the World Cup he would not make a decision until this year.

Gutendorf is to talk with Johnston during the next few weeks but since Johnston is now firmly established with Middlesbrough — and likely to remain in England, where he recently purchased a house — it is not likely that Gutendorf will be able to persuade Johnston to join his squad.

Johnston, nominated for Scotland's Youth team squad last year but he is also thinking about becoming an English citizen.

He also has the option of playing for South Africa where he was born.

Johnston left Australia while still attending Booragul High School, as a 15-year-old in a bid to gain a place in the English team.

He was a success with the Middlesbrough side in the 1977-78 season although, last season, he was hit by a succession of injuries which forced him to miss many matches. He has fully recovered from them and has trained with Middlesbrough for the past few months and was in the club's squad which went to Yugoslavia for two pre-season matches.

His new contract — which gives him a considerable increase in wages — permits him to return to Australia in each of the two years it has to run and to play as a guest with any team he wishes. His father, "Bruno" Johnston who was a highly capable insider, is eager for his son to play for Australia but will leave the decision to him. But it seems that Craig Johnston is determined that his football future lies in England and that little will be seen of him on Australian fields — or in Australia's teams. — Jack Matthews.

And now we need a limit on transfers

EDITORIAL

The ASF's tough clampdown on the importation and movement of temporary visa players is basically a great step forward.

It will force clubs to use local talent instead of importing players, and this can only benefit Australia's chances of becoming a true soccer nation.

However, the side-effect of the ASF move will be skyrocketing transfer fees, and to avert self-destruction by clubs, new laws controlling the transfer market must be introduced.

It is no easy task to regulate a transfer market but some attempt must be made before transfer fees become so exorbitant that clubs are faced with the alternative of not buying players at all or going into debt by going into the market.

To refresh memories, the ASF's new laws prevent any club outside the Philips League or State Leagues signing a player who is a temporary resident. Clubs in the Philips League and State Leagues are allowed three such players.

Most PSL and State League clubs have more than three temporary visa players at present, but this doesn't mean they will have to dump players to reduce the number to three.

These clubs will be prevented from signing a temporary resident until the number at the club is reduced to two. Clubs can't bring in excessive players from overseas, and can't sell or buy imported players.

On the surface that's a great reform, and a boost to Australian soccer.

But, as any economist will tell you, when the supply falls, demand increases. And when demand increases, the price of the commodity goes up.

In 1979, a club had the choice of importing a player, buying one from a local club or promoting a youngster to fill a vacancy.

In 1980, the overseas market will virtually be shut and many good players on the local market will be unavailable because they are on temporary visas.

'Soccer Action' compiled figures which show that around 45% of players in the Victorian State League are on temporary visas.

Clubs will fight over the few good players left. The price of these players will shoot up at an incredible rate.

Young players will become worth their weight in gold.

The number of players available to Australian clubs has been slashed dramatically. No longer are England, Scotland and Ireland a place to pick up cheap players in large numbers.

With so many clubs searching Australia for good players, the money battle will be ferocious. A few clubs will adopt a non-buying policy and therefore probably slump and lose support.

Others will continue to buy frantically as they have in the past but will find their money being drained away even more quickly.

The rich will survive, the middle class may be able to hang on, but the poor clubs will begin a rapid decline.

The clubs with a good junior set-up will be padded financially by the transfer market madness. These clubs will find it increasingly difficult to hold onto young players unless they can outbid the rich clubs.

Players' wages and signing-on fees will rise too.

The changeover is too sudden. One minute there's a steady flow of players, the next it's a trickle. There are good Australian-produced players but not enough to go around.

There are various ways to control the transfer market. One way is to set a limit, say $9,000, but that would lead to a situation where every player in the national league, be he an international or a 17-year-old, would be priced at $9,000.

A maximum price must be set, but a tribunal must be set up as well, to decide a price if the two clubs can't come to an agreement within the limit. The basis would be a player's age, service to club, money spent by club on him in previous transfer fees, etc.

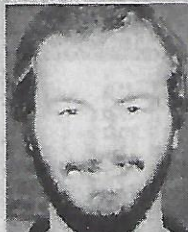

Then again, this isn't the best solution either. A club which gets a lower price than it wants will cry bias by the tribunal.

There will always be the presence of under-the-table payments which go over the limit.

Something must be done to regulate the transfer market. Transfer fees are highly inflated at present and will soar even higher next season.

Only Croatia, Marconi can import more

By KYLE PATTERSON

The 12 clubs in the Victorian State League have between them 65 players on temporary residence visas.

If all of these players took the field for their clubs in the same round, they would represent 42.42% of all players used by 12 clubs.

Add to this percentage the proportion of players in the Victorian State League who came from overseas to play, but had permanent residency, and these players who have had their temporary status changed to permanent, the overall percentage would be near 85%.

This means only 15% of players in the Victorian State League are Australian-produced.

Of the 63 temporary residents, 42 have been imported over the past two seasons. Twenty-three have been in Australia since before February 1978, which means their stay hasn't been too temporary.

The latest temporary visa player is Martin Graham, an Irish midfielder who shortly will join George Cross. He was registered before the closing date of the transfer season. Graham, a right-sided midfielder, is from Distillery and is 24 years old and married. This season, four players have joined State League clubs as permanent residents. They are Billy Whyte of Altona City, and Billy Brindle, Paul Cooke and Brian Monaghan of Prahran Slavia. Slavia has eight temporary residents and sold three earlier this year - John Yzendoorn, Jamie Paten (to Heidelberg) and Tony Heery (to Juventus). Frankston City, Preston Makedonia and George Cross also have eight temporary residence players.

Essendon Croatia, with two players on temporary visas, is the only club in the State League eligible to import a player under current ASF rules, which stipulate three as the maximum. Of the Philips League teams, only Marconi is below that mark. The temporary residents in the Victorian State League are:

Cosmos won't wait

The New York Cosmos will accept an offer to play in Thailand if Australian interests do not make a firm offer quickly.

The Cosmos are still interested in adding Australian matches to their tour of Asia but won't wait much longer.

The Cosmos, one of the best supported teams in the world, are undertaking a five week Asian tour playing in Japan, Indonesia, South Korea, Singapore, Malaysia and Hong Kong in October-November.

I spoke with their marketing director Dominic Flora in New York last week. He indicated that the Cosmos would like to include Australia in their tour plans at a fee of $50,000 per game, return air tickets from Singapore and first class accommodation during their stay.

Contrary to the report in 'Soccer Action' last week, he has received little, if any, contact, regarding a match in Melbourne.

The Cosmos are really good value, even if their $50,000 tag seems a little high. I saw them destroy San Jose Earthquakes 5-0 before 55,000 fans at the fabulous Giants Stadium recently and their team, bolstered by the recent signings of Dutch World Cup stars Neeskens and Rijsebergen, is first-class.

Apart from these two current world-class stars, the sions which will make it easily the biggest club in Australia. NBN 3 has agreed to televise the game and local radio station 2GO, apart from giving substantial pre-match promotion, will broadcast the game live.

The only hitch to the Gosford promotion is the state of the ground at Graham Park which has caused respective coaches Gerry Chaidi and Alan Vest some concern.

However the local council has agreed to do everything in its power to ensure that the ground is in reasonable shape for a game which could decide the top four fate of both clubs. Newcastle KB, typically, have more than a dozen buses already booked for the trip south.

The Gosford match is the fifth major promotion entered into by Sydney City this year.

The others have been the nickname competition (first prize a trip for two to the F.A. Cup) the Westfield-sponsored Lord Mayor's Cup for schools in the City of Sydney area, the City Ford Cortina car to the supporter of the year, the Pele competition (trip for two boys to Pele's coaching school in New York) and now the Gosford match.

Cosmos boast Beckenbauer, Carlos Alberto, Tuerat, Chinaglia, Bogicevic, Iranian defender Eskandarian and blond Brazilian ace Marinho.

The biggest sporting club in the southern hemisphere, the Central Coast Leagues Club, will sponsor the Sydney City versus Newcastle KB United game in Gosford on Saturday, September 1.

Sydney City's sponsorship proposal was accepted by the Central Coast Leagues Club last week and it will substantially underwrite the expenses of transferring the venue of the top four match from Sydney to Gosford.

The Central Coast Leagues Club is possibly the most famous sporting club in Australia and despite the name it is a sporting club which financially supports 127 local sporting bodies with grants of over $250,000 annually.

The superb club rooms which overlook Graham Park, venue for the Slickers-KB match, are currently under-going $64 million dollar exten-

FIVE — MATCH PROGRAMME TO MAKE OR BREAK UTD

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Gary Cole, Jamie Paton and Branko Buljevic are sharpening their shooting skills in readiness for a heavy programme of five games in 15 days.

At the end of that period Heidelberg United will either be firmly entrenched in the PSL top four, or licking its wounds, hoping for better luck next year.

The former alternative is the more likely, providing all the players survive the game against AEK Athens at Olympic Park tonight (Wednesday) free of injuries.

It won't be easy, as the Greeks are hell bent on revenge for their 0-4 loss to the Victorian State team, which included five Heidelberg players, including Cole, who notched a hat-trick.

Heidelberg's busy match schedule is — Tonight (Wednesday) — AEK at Olympic Park;

Sunday — v Adelaide City at Olympic Park;

Wednesday, August 29 — v St George at St George Stadium, 7.30 pm

Sunday, September 2 — v Canberra City at Bruce Stadium

Wednesday, September 5 — v Sydney Olympic, Olympic Park, 8 pm.

APIA and Brisbane Lions also have two matches this week, as they play each other in their postponed match at Perry Park next Wednesday night.

Heidelberg's clash against fellow top-four aspirant Adelaide City is in direct competition with the local derby between South Melbourne Hellas and Footscray J.U.S.T. at Middle Park on Sunday.

While Heidelberg and Adelaide City fight it out tooth and nail for a place in the final series, Footscray will be trying to draw well clear of the relegation zone by maintaining the excellent form it showed in beating Adelaide City 2-1 last Sunday.

Heidelberg coach Manny Poulakakis faces an embarrassment of riches, as Ken Taylor and Bob Provan are back after missing the last league match, against Footscray. Taylor has served his suspension and Provan has recovered from illness.

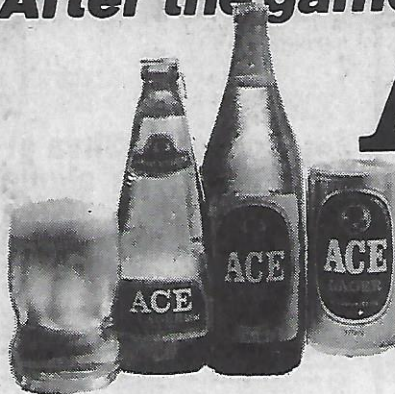

Andy Bozakis probably will make for Taylor, but to fit Provan back into the team, someone else will have to be dropped. Who will it be?

Injuries to John Besir and Jim Muir early this year caused a dramatic reversal in Adelaide City's form. Once a possible title contender, City no longer appears to have the necessary defensive strength even to reach the finals.

It will need strength at the back to ward off the danger of Cole, Paton and Buljevic.

Marconi can clinch title

Cole, with nine goals and two matches in hand, can still overtake Mark Jankovics (13 goals) to become top scorer of the PSL for 1979 and collect the $750 prize from Courage Breweries.

Previous results, 1977 — AC 1-0, H'berg 1-0; 1978 — H'berg 3-0, AC 3-2; 1979 — AC 2-1.

Footscray J.U.S.T. beat Adelaide City last week despite the absence of Peter Orlerton who served a suspension and in doing so, the team maintained the much improved form it showed against Heidelberg United.

Joe Palinkas, who scored both goals, and who scored also against Heidelberg, was in top form, as were Jim Kondaric, Andrija Ristic, Zdravko Lujic, Mikko Rujevic and Joe Piccione.

But J.U.S.T. has a problem.

Whereas it has no trouble handling the top teams, J.U.S.T. relaxes against lower sides and pays the penalty. Whoever referees the match is well advised to keep an eye on Lujic and Hellas forward Mendo Ristovski. It was due to a personal difference between the two that Ristovski quit J.U.S.T. to join Hellas, and there could be fireworks if Lujic lines up at left back and thus opposes Ristovski.

Alan Davidson was unlucky in front of goal against St George last Saturday and Hellas played well enough to perhaps get a draw from that match. The team should be even stronger at home — despite the return of Tony Turner to England so it should be a thrilling encounter.

Previous results, 1977 — Foots 2-0, 2-2; 1978 — SM 4-0, 2-4; 1979 — SM 2-4.

Marconi will have the points necessary to win the 1979 championship if it beats Brisbane City in Brisbane on Sunday.

Victory would stretch Marconi's lead over Brisbane City to eight points, with four games left to play.

If Marconi lost those four games and Brisbane City and Heidelberg won all their remaining matches, these three teams would finish level on points, providing the latter two do not pick up bonus points. The title would then be decided on goal difference.

But that's a fairytale scenario.

If Marconi beats Brisbane City, it has won the title, and that's that.

It won't be easy, though, as Brisbane City drew with Marconi 3-3 early this year, and beat Marconi on penalties in the 1977 Philips Cup final.

The City defence — especially its leader George Potter and Steve Perry who will probably mark Peter Sharpe — are psyched up for this clash.

To do well, the Marconi stars will have to shine as they have never shone before.

Previous results, 1977 — Marc 1-0, 1-0; 1978 — Marc 3-2, 3-0; 1979 — 3-3.

Back in the top four due to a bonus point against Canberra, Newcastle United gets the chance to consolidate its position by taking perhaps another bonus point from visiting Brisbane Lions at the International Sports Centre on Saturday.

The 5-1 victory over Canberra was just the tonic the Newcastle players needed to make themselves believe they are as capable as the other big guns of scoring big victories.

Brisbane Lions have only two danger men — Tony Brennan and Barrie Fairbrother — and with concentration, Roy Drinkwater and Bill Summerscales should be able to blot them out.

If Newcastle can keep Jim Hermiston busy marking a man, the Lions defence will be deprived of his leadership and should crack.

IN MELBOURNE

South Melbourne v. Footscray (draw) at Middle Park, Sunday 3 pm.

HEIDELBERG UTD v. Adelaide City at Olympic Park, Sunday 3 pm.

Previous results — 1978 — BL 2-1, 1979 — BL 3-4.

Sydney City retains a place in the top four only because Heidelberg has two postponed games. The only way Gerry Chaldi's men will stay in the running for the finals is by winning consistently while Heidelberg loses.

On Sunday, City faces APIA which also has hopes of qualifying for the top four series. With a game in hand against Brisbane Lions, APIA is potentially in a sound position, only two points behind Sydney City.

Injuries, suspensions and loss of form have cost Sydney City dearly this year, depriving it at different times of the services of Eddie Thomson, Steve O'Connor, Kevin Mullen, Hilton Silva, Joe Watson and Terry Smith.

APIA's defence and midfield will make it tough for Sydney City but it remains to be seen whether APIA can maintain the goalscoring form it showed in beating Canberra 3-0 in its last game.

Previous results (using Western Suburbs for APIA) — 1977 — SC 2-1, 4-3; 1978 — SC 3-0, APIA 3-2; 1979 — APIA 2-1.

Canberra City appears to have fallen to pieces since the departure of Ian Callaghan and the injury to Roy Stark.

Successive losses of 0-3 to APIA and 1-5 to Newcastle haven't done much good to Canberra's morale, whereas Olympic has shown improved form over the past four weeks or so, despite a 1-2 loss to Adelaide City in the last game.

Previous results — 1977 — Can 4-0, 2-2; 1978 — SO 3-0, Can 2-1; 1979 — SO 3-1.

West Adelaide can still finish in the top four if it wins consistently in the remaining rounds and results show that its home ground advantage is one of the most marked in the competition.

With strikers Graham Norris and John Kosmina playing well and with Con Kambas back to strengthen the defence, West Adelaide looks good for its clash with the vastly improved St George at Hindmarsh on Sunday.

Therefore Saints may have to wait a week before resuming its climb away from the relegation zone.

Previous results — 1977 — St G 1-0, 3-3; 1978 — WA 1-0, St G 4-1; 1979 — St G 2-0.

If Brisbane Lions are to save themselves from relegation, they will have to do so in home matches.

Their first chance to collect life-saving points comes in the postponed match against APIA at Perry Park next Wednesday night.

A date for their other postponed game, against Sydney City, has not yet been set.

Previous results (using Western Suburbs as APIA) — 1977 — WS 3-0, BL 4-0; 1978 — BL 3-1, 2-2; 1979 — APIA 2-1.

After tough games against AEK Athens and Adelaide City, Heidelberg United may be suffering knocks and bruises when it lines up against St George in the postponed match at St George Stadium next Wednesday night.

St George will also find it tough, as it will have played against West Adelaide the previous Sunday.

Under those circumstances, anything can happen. When this fixture was postponed in the 15th round, most people at Heidelberg looked at it as a certain three-pointer. Times have changed. Today Heidelberg is happy enough to get the narrowest of victories.

Previous results — 1977 — St G 2-1, 2-2; 1978 — St G 4-1, 2-0; 1979 — H'berg 1-0.

Footscray a power now

ADELAIDE CITY 1
FOOTSCRAY 2

Scorers: Northcote 35, Palinkas 60, 77.
Ground: Olympic Sports Field.

Crowd: 2,500.
Cautions: Piccione, Rujovic (Footscray), Northcote (Adelaide City).

Weather: Cool.
Referee: Don Campbell.
Two-goal hero Joe Palinkas inspired Footscray to a brilliant 2-1 win over Adelaide City at Olympic Sports Field.

The win emphasised Footscray's recent emergence as a soccer power and the minor miracle new coach Bobby McLachlan has performed.

The first half was devoid of excitement until the last ten minutes when City had Footscray on the ropes.

Defender Bobby Russell had the first chance of the day with a firmly-struck shot just past the far post.

Footscray were proving a handful for City, particularly in midfield, where Mirko Rujovic freely threw his weight around.

The first half looked like developing into a stalemate until the 34th minute when John Nyskohus turned sharply and cracked a fierce shot against the far post.

Less than a minute later City were rewarded with a goal after some skilful work by Charlie Villani on the right flank.

The talented midfielder floated a ball to the far post and Northcote perfectly judged his jump to send a powerful header soaring just under the bar.

City looked like adding to its tally but it failed to sustain the momentum and Footscray appeared content to go in at half time with a one-goal deficit.

McLachlan took off Igor Hazabed during the break and replaced him with Dragan Vasic.

Vasic looked menacing from the moment he took to the field although he was slow and clumsy at times.

He could have made better use of a bad defensive error from John Perin in the 48th minute but he was so slow that Marshall had enough time to scoop the ball to safety.

Meanwhile Glen Dodd exposed Footscray's defence in the 57th minute with a brilliant run on the byline but his cross was cut out by diving Steve Potter.

A minute earlier Dixie Deans came on for Sergio Melia but the move backfired when he had to come off again in 13 minutes later with aggravated injury.

Palinkas wiped out City's lead with an opportunistic goal in the 60th minute when he tore away from City's defence and cracked a lightning shot past Peter Marshall.

City peppered Footscray's goal but the defence, led by Jim Kondarides, was in an uncompromising mood.

Villani shot powerfully in the 73rd minute but the attempt was blocked by a defender and moments later Aggie Muniz had a header stolen off his foot from two metres.

Palinkas sent shock waves through the City camp with virtually a carbon copy of his first goal.

As he did earlier, he broke clear of City's defence, drew out Marshall and fired the ball past him.

It was Palinkas' third successive goal.

City made several forward thrusts for an equaliser but Footscray's defence stood firm.

What has happened to this fine striker? His determination to beat his fullback and his wizardry are gone. He appears disinterested and should have been replaced early. Watson was rather quiet too, gave both Brisbane fullbacks an easy task.

With this loss Sydney City have said goodbye to the last chance they had of challenging Marconi for the top spot and also appear to be on the verge of dropping out of the top four.

Silva in a slump

SYDNEY CITY 0
BRISBANE CITY 1

Goal: Low.
Ground: Sydney Sports Ground.

Crowd: 745.
Weather: Cool and Windy.
Referee: Richie Lorenz.
Yellow cards: Wilkinson (33), Mullen (56).

Brisbane City showed clear intentions of playing a counter attacking style of football, with Kello and Low up front in the hope of snatching a point from the pre-game favourite, Sydney City.

The tactics paid off and with a bit of luck the score might have been even greater.

As early as the fifth minute Brisbane City counter attacked through Barry Kello who managed to draw two defenders before slipping the ball into the area for Low to hit the roof of the net from close range.

It was a well executed move and one that in the end gave the visitors the two points.

Kevin Caldwell could easily have scored another goal only a minute later but skied the ball over the bar from some 12 metres.

Sydney City tried desperately to get on even terms in the first half and due to some great efforts by Barnes and Souness managed to assume the upper hand. However, the Slickers failed to finish off some good moves that could easily have changed the pattern of this game.

In the 31st minute it was Murray Barnes who started a move with a long through ball that eluded the Brisbane City defence. Ian Souness ran through the last line of defence and looked set for an easy goal until the ball landed on his back and bounced for one of the defenders to clear.

Only a minute later John Stevenson floated a cross from the right hand side that gave Watson and Barnes an opportunity from close range, but the two Slickers failed to make contact and Wishart dived on the ball, almost at the feet of luckless Murray Barnes.

With one minute to go before half time Souness had the best chance of the half. Kevin Mullen shot hard from the edge of the area and the ball sailed through many legs, right across the area for Souness to slam a point blank range shot which Wishart saved miraculously.

We saw a repetition of this move at the beginning of the second half with Barnes at the start of it and Stevenson at the end, but Wishart was on the spot yet again to make a brilliant save.

Brisbane City made two changes midway through the second half, with Campbell replacing Low and Coyne replacing the injured Echeverria.

It was a surprise to most of the sparse crowd at the Sports Ground to see Coyne come in at such a late stage on he hardly had time to touch the ball.

the home team appeared to have given up the chase for the equaliser before the final whistle and succumbed without a fight.

A last minute opportunity fell to Gomez but his well directed header was cleared off the line by Perry to seal the win for the visitors.

In the meantime, Brisbane City could have added a couple of goals in the space of one minute but failed to show its shooting power.

Frank Pimblett blasted the ball over the bar from 12 metres in the 70th minute, then some 30 seconds later it was Todd Clarke who made a brilliant save from an effort by Kevin Caldwell.

The visitors thoroughly deserved the two points and remain the sole chaser capable of overthrowing Marconi (theoretically). Kello, Echeverria and Wishart were their best players on the night.

Sydney City had very few people genuinely interested in this game, with Hilton Silva possibly playing his worst game since joining the club.

What has happened to this fine striker? His determination to beat his fullback and his wizardry are gone. He appears disinterested and should have been replaced early. Watson was rather quiet too, gave both Brisbane fullbacks an easy task.

With this loss Sydney City have said goodbye to the last chance they had of challenging Marconi for the top spot and also appear to be on the verge of dropping out of the top four.

Newcastle cuts loose

NEWCASTLE K.B. LTD 5
CANBERRA CITY 1

Goals, Newcastle: Baden 2, McClelland, Heys, Moulis, o.g., Canberra: Farrell.
Cautions: Drinkwater (Newc).

Ref: D. Nugent, Sydney.
Weather: Overcast, wet pitch.
Crowd: 2,750.

Thumbs down to Canberra City. Full marks to a fighting Newcastle KB United for a runaway 5-1 victory which gave them their first bonus point of the 1979 season.

Two incidents sealed Canberra's fate after a remarkably even first 45 minutes.

The first was an own-goal right on the half-time break and the second a disastrous defensive blunder by skipper John Brown.

In fact, in the first 45 minutes, Canberra City had the better of territorial play.

As I said, it was a half not without its excitement. By way of example was the eighth minute miss-header by City's youngster Bernard Lustica from a Cant cross.

Full marks to the 19-year-old. In the 62 minutes he was on the field he had a great game.

Another example was Col Curran's near miss from a free kick in the 14th minute and the Boden Heys move in the 29th minute that saw Heys find the net only to have this one disallowed by referee Nugent who ruled that the ball had rolled over the deadball line the split second before Boden crossed it.

It was an entertaining first 45 minutes.

Then, as one expected the whistle for the break, it was a whistle that sent jubilation through the Newcastle camp — the own goal.

Newcastle's Australian under-19 star Peter Tredinick, fired a great volley that rapped Canberra's Danny Moulis on the body and was deflected into the net.

The move was unfortunate enough. But Brown's effort was far more costly.

Brown, great Canberra stalwart though he is, had only himself to blame.

He could — and should — have played for safety first. Instead he let himself be robbed by the mercurial Kenny Boden whose neatly floated chip found Malcolm McClelland bursting through at the far post.

McClelland volleyed hard and low and it found the net.

From then on it was all over bar the shouting.

Newcastle's faster forwards Boden, McClelland and Heys were in full flight.

What Canberra needed was a steady hand in defence. It didn't come from either Brown or Jimmy Cantrill.

Tragically both had off days, tragically in particular for Brown who, since being made skipper, has handed in some of his best games yet for Canberra.

Once behind 2-0, Canberra really dropped their bundle. They never even looked like scoring.

And this, more than anything, is what so infuriates their still so loyal fans — even if they are beginning to dwindle away. God knows, Canberra can't afford another disastrous finish like last season when they lost their last five games.

In the 61st minute both the linesman and referee Nugent missed a glaring hand ball from Graham Heys as he knocked the ball forward.

But full marks to Heys. He played the whistle, while Canberra's defence stopped.

Heys gathered, moved to the left and drew keeper Steve Hoszowski whose desperation dive failed to stop the ball reaching the net.

Just seven minutes later, Boden rose to a cross, nodded it forward and then shot into the net for what looked to be Newcastle's first bonus point.

Four-nil up, it was one-sided yet Canberra still tried an when Isaac Farrell volleyed first time in the 77th minute it ripped past Phil Dando into Newcastle's net.

What chance a miracle? Quickly the question — or prayer — was answered when Kenny Boden showed his considerable ball skills by getting around two players to score.

Five-one for Newcastle. Their greatest victory — Canberra's worst defeat.

If Canberra are to do anything at all next season at least, five — perhaps six — solid new acquisitions are necessary.

And only three can come

Personal drive was Mathews' secret

The photograph and story about Sir Stanley Mathews in a recent edition of "Soccer Action" was highly interesting to me.

You have to be British to understand the cave in which this man is held in the soccer world.

A story in which I was involved will give some indication.

Mathews was coming to 'town' (London) to play against Fulham.

He was 44 years of age playing on the right wing for Blackpool. I was a youngster trying to make it as a left winger for Fulham.

Mathews was marked by an English international left back. Fulham's Jim Langley, I was marked by England's captain and right back, Jimmy Armfield.

You would think that our coach, Bedford Jezzard, would have been confident with Langley's ability to handle a 44 year old veteran.

Yet before the kick off he instructed me to drop back to be always in support of Langley when he was challenging Mathews.

Such was Mathews' tremendous skill, that even then during the Blackpool-Fulham match he continually took possession of the ball in deep positions drawing Langley, myself and other Fulham players to him before hitting devastating crosses and through balls.

Not the end of that game I realised he had lost his blistering burst of speed that once used to take him away from bewildered opponents.

Nevertheless, anything it had diminished, anything it had increased and it was this he exploited so well in his later years on the field of play.

Referees, spectators and even the most important of all fell under his spell as his career continued to an incredible 50 years of age.

It does not surprise me that he still plays until at 64.

Searching to acquire some of the Maths magic, I took up his diet of nuts and raisins and health foods and moved from foggy, bustling London to nearby seaside town Brighton, a similar environment to Blackpool where the fresh air and early morning runs on the beach were part of the Maths legend.

Needless to say, I never became another Mathews, and now I realise that attitude is even more important than fresh air and personal drive.

It was personal drive which kept Mathews going.

I subsequently learned from former Blackpool captain and Australian coach, Jim Kelly, that Mathews had an ulcer.

It was personal drive which enabled Tony Book to become a English first division player at the age of 36, after 20 years in non-league Soccer.

He was greatly assisted by Makom Allison, a great motivator and a stickler for physical fitness.

Without wanting to appear one of the Rale Rasic fan club, a man whom I have crossed paths with at times, he also has the ability to get outstanding performances from veteran players.

George Kinnell (Marconi) and Kauri Waters (Pan Hellenic) are two who come readily to mind.

As is the technical term for your ability to take in and distribute oxygen — the be all and end all of fitness.

An athlete's aerobic capacity does not greatly diminish until he reaches 40.

For this reason, if not reduced by injuries, athletes in most major sports, including Soccer, should be able to perform well into their late 30's.

I recently saw John Watkins, coach of Sutherland, who consequently has to train himself and has the added burden of overall responsibility, star for Sutherland at age 39.

Watkins, unlike Mathews is not full time, or it is possible that he may one day have emulated the "wizard of the dribble".

ATTACK IS THE WORD!

AEK Athens tour of Australia continued to be full of surprises when the Greek champion and New South Wales produced a 10-goal spectacular at the Sydney Sports Field.

The large crowd of more than 14,000 was given a treat as the goals flowed at both ends.

Admittedly both defences left a lot to be desired, but the attacking flair was excellent. The home side quickly raced into the lead through Peter Raskopoulos, and 12 minutes later made it 2-0 with AEK seemingly on the brink of a heavy defeat.

Raskopoulos ran through AEK's defence almost unopposed to score from ten metres in the very first minute of the game. I had the feeling that the visitors felt it was not sporting to score so early and just stood back to allow the young Soccerco to put NSW in front.

In the 13th minute Paul Degney found Butler who quickly shot across the area for Krncevic to slam one past Christidis from close range. Being two down within quarter of an hour looked too big a hurdle for the visitors, but AEK stormed back.

Mimis Domazos showed just why he is still a great player in the 16th minute by flicking the ball neatly through the NSW defensive line-up to present Intzoglou with the easiest of chances and the score was 2-1 in favour of the home team.

We hardly had time to note the name of the scorer when Henderson appeared to have tripped Bajevic and referee Henry Witschge pointed to the spot to give Bajevic a chance to score from the penalty.

Bajevic scored, but Domazos entered the area before the kick was taken and the Yugoslav international had to do it all over again. He coolly moved towards the ball then paused, to allow Woodhouse to commit himself, before pushing the ball neatly into the opposite corner.

In the 32nd minute Tony Henderson tried to beat Kalatzidis and promptly lost the ball. The AEK midfielder didn't waste time in finding Bajevic who placed a beautiful chip to the far post for Franjo Vlado to slam the ball past Woodhouse.

Six minutes later NSW was on equal terms yet again. Jennings found Butler, who passed

AEK: Christidis 5, Damianidis 8, Kalatzidis 6, Argyros 6 (Thodis 46' - 7), Nicolaou 7, Intzoglou 7, Ardizoglou 9, Vlado 7, Domazos 8, Bajevic 8, Tasos 8.

Peter Beggs

for Eddie Krncevic to neatly flick the ball past Christidis to make it 3-3.

Beggs replaced Hall in the NSW line-up at the beginning of the second half much to the disappointment of the crowd, and AEK slowly but gradually took the upper hand in this game. Playing some great football at times, AEK scored through Ardizoglou in the 55th minute and looked set for victory.

Bruno Cagajl came on for Peter Stone in the 68th minute in an attempt to bolster the home side, but AEK still looked in command.

Then came a sudden change in fortune. With 14 minutes to go, Paul Degney crossed to the far post, and the visitors hesitated allowing Peter Beggs to place a neat header in off the post for the equaliser.

With five minutes to go, Beggs was on the spot yet again, and the visitors hesitated allowing Peter Beggs to place a neat header in off the post for the equaliser.

With one minute of play remaining, Ian Souness was very bitter about the referee's ruling and managed to say too much and this paid dividends for the visitors! Henry Witschge penalised NSW, giving AEK an indirect free kick 20 metres from goal. Vlado pushed the ball wide for Bajevic to drive a powerful shot past Woodhouse and make it 5-5.

"Rotten referee, we should have won it", came the cry from the NSW dressing room. All I could tell you is that had it have been a Spanish, Yugoslav or french referee we would have won the game, for neither of those gentlemen would have understood what Ian Souness was saying. However, Henry Witschge understood too well and the free kick was justly awarded to AEK.

For all those who might think that this is where it all ends let me fill you in on a few missed chances by both teams:

Dusan Bajevic had two early chances. In the 6th minute Souness headed back towards his own goal only to see Bajevic accept the gift then pop the ball straight at Woodhouse from seven metres. Following a cross by Intzoglou, Bajevic was left alone with Woodhouse, but yet again the young Aussie keeper was on the spot to save.

Ardizoglou had the best chance when in the 83rd minute he latched onto a beautiful pass by Bajevic to beat the offside trap and face Woodhouse, the elegant striker tried to do too much and in attempting to beat the keeper, lost the ball! The score was then 4-4 and only seven minutes remaining.

FIRST STEP TO WORLD CUP

By MIKE JOHNSON

Eight States and territories are taking part in the national under 16 championships which start in Sydney on Monday at St George Stadium.

They are: Queensland, Victoria, NSW, Tasmania, A.C.T., Northern NSW, Western Australia and South Australia.

Those tipped as most likely to win are Northern NSW, Victoria or NSW.

Of the 16 times the championships have been held since 1983, these three have won it 14 times between them.

NSW has won it the most, six times.

Northern NSW and Victoria have won it four times each.

South Australia, twice, is the only other State or territory that has won the trophy.

Victoria won it last year and NSW the year before with Northern NSW the runner-up on each occasion.

Victoria has nowhere near the number of under 16 players as has NSW.

One of the reasons it has been successful is that it has been able to train pretty well all year round, keeping its squad together and building up team spirit and cohesion.

NSW, being a much bigger State, has not been able to do this.

NSW coach Leo Baumgartner has had his squad in training for only a few weeks.

Before that he had spent several weeks culling through different squads from different sections of NSW's Soccer set up.

One squad came from the schools, another from the junior clubs, another from junior clubs affiliated with professional clubs, yet another from NSW division one and then a final squad from NSW divisions 2-7.

Although this has meant he has not had a long time to work his final squad, it does mean that Baumgartner will be handling the best under 16s in the State, something that has not happened with previous NSW State teams.

It is important that the best boys are used by the various States in these championships because the best of them will be groomed for national team stardom for our 1988 World Cup bid.

At least Australian soccer is starting to plan ahead.

These under 16's are scheduled to move in the Australian under 18's then the under 19's then the full B and A squads.

Much of the $13 million Coca-Cola is spending on youth Soccer in the next three years will be spent on these elite players.

They will go into camps, travel overseas and generally receive the intensive coaching and playing experience which, hopefully, will equip them to build a strong national team for 1988.

Coaching clinics

A local newspaper, The St George and Sutherland Shire "Leader" has joined with Coca-Cola Bottlers to sponsor the national under 16 titles.

They will run a coaching clinic during the championships, using star players and coaches from St George BSC and Sutherland.

The championships are being held in the St George stadium, Rockdale.

Dunlop has also joined in the sponsorship and will donate prizes of soccer boots and bags to the best students from the coaching clinic.

As organising coach for the coaching clinic running in conjunction with the national championships, Mike Johnson has a marvellous team of people to draw on.

There are star players George Harris, Phil O'Connor, John O'Shea, Mike Fraser, Craig Hall, Peter Hensman, Robert O'Shea, Peter Beggs, Mitchell Hesford, Keith Schumann, Roy Cotton and Nigel Groom.

The young goalkeepers will have ex-Hungarian international, Joe Gelei to show them how, aided by St George's Mike Fraser. Coach Tibor Zuckerman will also be there.

To keep the numbers down, only one age group will be coached on each day of the championships.

The boys and girls can be given sufficient tips in running, dribbling, shooting and passing and goalkeeping to bring about at least a five per cent improvement in their play, says Mike Johnson.

Ardizoglou, Domazos dazzle

By Meno Toutsidis

Flamboyant striker Christos Ardizoglou steered AEK Athens to a 1-0 win over fighting South Australia with a splendid first-half goal in a fiery match at Hindmarsh Stadium last Wednesday night.

The Greek champion mildly redeemed itself after its disastrous 4-0 loss to Victoria last Sunday.

However AEK struggled for most of the match although it was severely handicapped when referee John Tarling sent off defender Charalampos Intzoglou in the fifteenth minute for striking SA midfielder Agenor Muniz.

The decision incensed elegant striker Dusan Bajevic who pushed Tarling but eventually calmed down. AEK found itself under immediate pressure and goalkeeper Nikos Christidis was beaten twice with headers from Peter Boyle and Graham Norris.

However Mimis Domazos, the evening's outstanding performer, and Ardizoglou soon stamped their indelible mark on the match.

Meanwhile Ardizoglou cut a swath through SA's defence and in one forward thrust swept past six defenders before the ball was scrambled away.

His goal in the twentieth minute was a gem. Bajevic rifled a cross into the goalmouth, the ball fell to Ardizoglou just outside the penalty area and he calmly side-stepped a defender before cracking a sizzling shot tore past Peter Marshall's outstretched fingers.

South Australia fought desperately for an equaliser it forced 13 corners and it almost came in the 40th minute, but Boyle's searing 15-metre shot was brilliantly turned around the post by Christidis.

Christidis figured into two major incidents in the second half.

In the 64th minute he raced off his line and brought down Graham Honeyman 30-metres out from goal when the West Adelaide midfielder looked set to score, and in the 76th minute he produced the save of the match with a splendid one-handed attempt after Honeyman had hit a scorching 20 metre shot.

Greek substitute striker Tasos a veteran international, provoked a brilliant stop from Marshall in the 86th minute when he powerfully headed a Domazos free kick.

The big disappointment of the match was the lack of interest shown by Bajevic.

Apart from setting up the only goal and striking a magnificent curling free kick just wide of the near post, the Yugoslav forward was content to keep a low profile.

Apart from AEK's poor showing, the big disappointment was the absence of six of its championship team.

Nobody can catch me, says 'King' Cole

By KYLE PATTERSON

A week with English club Queens Park Rangers proved to Heidelberg Utd striker Gary Cole that he's got what it takes to score goals in international soccer.

Cole has since proved his belief to the 20,000 crowd which witnessed his superb hat-trick against Greek champion AEK at Olympic Park.

And Cole is hoping that Socceroo boss Rudi Gutendorf will also be convinced that the powerful forward is World Cup material.

After all, he is the goals king over the first three seasons of the Philips League.

Cole's confidence received a sizeable boost during his week with QPR before the start of the current Australian season.

Cole admits he probably lacked confidence before his stay with QPR, during which he and Heidelberg team mate Jim Campbell had a close look at professional soccer.

But now Cole has all the confidence he needs.

"There's not a defender in the Philips League who can catch me," he declares. "I know I'm not one of the greatest dribblers ever seen but then again I don't try to beat two or three defenders at a time."

"I can knock a ball past a defender and there's no way he'll recover."

Far from getting big-headed, Cole is simply aware of his assets and what he can achieve.

"I was on holiday in England when Jim and I went down to QPR," said Gary. "The experience has done a lot for me."

"I trained with First Division players, some of whom were world-class, but not many of them had more skills than I. Those guys are full-time players but there wasn't any great difference."

"That proved to me that I am a good footballer and gave my confidence an enormous boost. I know within myself that I'm as good as other players. Instead of doubting my own ability."

However, there's no escaping the fact that Cole was in a slump early this season.

"There was a time when so-called supporters of Heidelberg were giving me a hard time," remembers Gary. "They thought I was playing badly and slagged me, as did a number of soccer writers ..."

"But to me, the 'slump' was only a goal drought. I wasn't playing any differently but because I wasn't scoring there was pressure on me."

"I had a bit of bad luck with goalscoring. Every forward has a time when shots hit defenders or a post instead of going in."

But Cole said there was one factor which may have caused him to lose his goalscoring form.

"I've been coached by Len McKendry in the State team since early this season," said Gary. "I liked what he coached and tried to follow that style while playing for Heidelberg."

"But John Margaritis (now coach of South Melbourne) planned things differently, and maybe that conflict had something to do with the problem. I was playing one way, and John wanted another way."

"In the end I realised that John, as club coach, deserved to have me playing the way he wanted."

Cole, who has scored nine league goals this season, started to rediscover his goalscoring touch after Jamie Paton arrived from Prahran Slavia.

"Jamie helps a great deal because it means one defender, and not two, is marking me. Branko Buljevic plays wide, and before Paton arrived I had no one up with me," said Gary.

With Paton also being in the State squad, it gave Cole the chance to follow McKendry's coaching.

"Len's changed my game completely," said Gary. "For the past two years I've been scoring goals through speed alone. Instead of chasing high passes, I'm now laying off balls that are passed to my feet. That makes things much easier."

Cole added that offensively, Heidelberg played very much like Victoria. But defensively, Heidelberg plays a different game.

Cole's playing situation is handy at present. He's a key player in the Victorian team and Heidelberg has six State team players, which means he always plays in roughly the same pattern.

But what of the Socceroo team?

"I want to be in Rudi Gutendorf's team, but at this stage it's just a matter of fighting for a place against the likes of Sharpe, Jankovics and Krncevic."

"I don't know what style Gutendorf wants to play but whatever his style may be, understanding between the players is important. The Victorian team trains every Wednesday, so the players have developed understanding."

"But to throw 11 guys together in a national team and expect them to perform miracles is a fairy tale. It just doesn't happen. You can't play alongside strangers."

Unfortunately, the Socceroo party to China and South Korea, for which Cole is a strong contender, is destined to be a group of strangers.

Cole has set his sights firmly on a place in the Socceroo team. He turned down an offer from QPR because of his desire to play for Australia.

"QPR's offer was nothing great," said Cole. "The club wanted me to play a reserve game while I was over there, and then stay on for the rest of the season."

"But I didn't consider the proposal. If a club came and offered good money and first team football, I'd be off overseas. Starting from scratch in a reserve side is no good to me when I can be successful in Australia."

"I'm getting married in December (to Rosslyn), and will buy a house. My future is in Australia."

Cole's great hat-trick against AEK was his first since 1975. That effort came for Ringwood City against South Melbourne Hellas in a remarkable 7-7 draw.

"My goalscoring is usually in lots of one and occasionally I'll get two in a game," said Gary. "My goal tally is built up steadily, not usually with hat-tricks."

"But on Sunday I scored two with my head. I'm not a great header of the ball, but against AEK things went my way and two headers went in."

"It shows I can do it. I know I'm strong and fast and I know what I'm capable of. That's what it's all about."

If confidence is anything to go by, pencil in Gary Cole right now for a Socceroo journey.

ROSSI GRABBED BY PERUGIA

Italian star Paolo Rossi will stay in the First Division after Perugia jumped a queue that included Juventus, Milan, Roma and Napoli to sign the brilliant striker.

But the transfer fee — a mere AS500,000 — fell far short of the expected record-shattering AS5 million.

At one stage, Rossi looked set to play in the Italian Second Division when his club Lanerossi Vicenza was relegated.

Perugia's entry into the Rossi Race was a major surprise, since over the past 12 months Juventus and then Milan, Roma and Napoli had successively emerged as favourites for the centre forward.

However, after Napoli's attempted purchase fell through and Rossi bought a 25 per cent stake in Vicenza, it appeared he was certain to play in Serie B.

That prospect brought an outcry from fans and it is understood pressure was placed on Vicenza by the Italian football federation, the FIGC, to release him.

It seems clear Vicenza agreed on condition that Rossi did not go to any of the big clubs. Cash was certainly not their concern, for in the end Rossi went for a modest fee plus two players, Marco Cacciatori and Giorgio Roderghieri — a far cry from the long-expected world record-shattering fee.

EUROPEAN DRAWS

England will have one less entrant in the UEFA Cup after this season.

Following a complex points system to determine the most deserving cases UEFA have sorted out West Germany, Holland and Belgium as deserving four entries from 1980-81.

England will then have three clubs in, instead of the present four.

Not that affected anyone's confidence for the 1979-80 European competitions when the draw was made in Zurich on July 10.

Champion's cup: Prelim rnd: Dundalk (Ire) v Linfield (NI). 1st Rnd: Liverpool v Tbilisi, Arges Fitești v AEK Athens, Levski-Spartak v Real Madrid, Valur v Hamburg, Servette v Beveren, Vejle v FK Austria, Nottingham Forest (holders) v Oesters Vaxjo, Porto v Milan, Red Boys v Omonia, Hajduk v Trabzonspor, Dundalk/Linfield v Hibernian Malta, Strassburg v Start, Partizan Tirana v Celtic, RJK Helsinki v Ajax, Ulpest v Dukla, Dynamo E. Berlin v Ruch Chorzow.

Cup-winners' Cup: Prelim rnd: Rangers v Lillestrom, BK 1903 Copenhagen v Apol Nicosia 1st rnd: Rangers/Lillestrom v Fotuna Dusseldorf, Moscow

Wilkins to Manchester Utd

England midfielder Ray Wilkins has signed for Manchester United in a $1.65 million deal which made him the second most expensive player to move from one British club to another.

Britain's most expensive footballer is Trevor Francis, who cost European champions Nottingham Forest $2 million from Birmingham City.

220-0 What a fix!

Four teams in the Lake Ohrid league in Yugoslavia earned infamy after some of the most blatant 'fixing' of games seen in the country.

Allegations of corruption in soccer are not uncommon in Yugoslavia, but the latest incident shocked everyone.

Debarce and Ilinden, two fierce rivals, were level on points with one championship round to play. The winner of the league won promotion to the Macedonian regional competition.

Pressure was brought to bear soon after the results were announced. Gradinar 1, Debarce 88 (half-time score 0-14), and Ilinden 134, Mladost (half-time 11-0). 222 goals altogether!

The results should have meant that Ilinden had captured the Lake Ohrid league championship on goal average and would therefore qualify for the Macedonian regional league next season. Instead, all four teams were suspended.

The competition between Debarce and Ilinden, from villages some four miles apart in the beautiful hills above Lake Ohrid, is often so bitter that it has been known to cut right across close family relationships, with fans of the two soccer clans refusing to talk to each other, and sometimes in fact coming to blows.

It was obviously fate that on the very last day of the season, the two outfits were joint leaders in the race for the title. As such, it all depended on which side scored more goals in their final game. Even though both matches began at the same time, to prevent cheating, up-to-the minute scores were regularly transmitted from one ground to another (supposedly via the walkie-talkie sets of local police) and the players involved adjusted their game accordingly.

Selling spree brings disaster to Wacker

Wacker Innsbruck, the 1977 champion of Austria, found out the hard way what happens when a team loses its best players.

Wacker sold six players, all Austrian internationals, and was promptly relegated to the Austrian Second Division after finishing a dismal last.

The downfall of Wacker was swift. Last season, the club won the domestic cup competition, and reached the second round of the European Cup.

Then the management, which has come in for severe criticism since the demise of the club, decided to sell Jara (to Duisburg), Hattenberger (to Stuttgart), Weigl (to Alkmaar), Koncilia (to Anderlecht), Stiering (to Munich 1860) and Pezzey (to Frankfurt).

The only consolation for Innsbruck was regaining the Austrian Cup the club won in 1978.

The race for the championship was decided several weeks ago. Austria Wien, who reached the semi-finals in the European Cup this year, repeated last year's success and won the national title with a lead of 14 points, exactly the same as 7/78.

The other clubs from Vienna, the surprising squad of Sportclub and the disappointing team of Rapid, who were favourites for the title at the beginning of the season, finished second and third respectively and will participate in the UEFA Cup for Austria.

Salzburg, who came up from the second division, finished sixth.

So the four teams representing Austria in the European cups 79/80 will be Austria Wien (champions), Wacker Innsbruck (cup-winner), Wiener Sportclub and Rapid Wien (UEFA).

The new team in the first division will be LASK, from Linz. They only played one season in division II and were promoted immediately after relegation last year.

Top scorer of this season was Walter Schachner from Austria Wien who scored 24 goals.

Kilmarnock, promoted back to the Scottish Premier League, won the pre-season Scottish Cup at Ibrox Park Glasgow against Rangers, West Ham and Brighton.

Keith Mabbitt, the 19-year-old son of former Bristol Rovers half back Ray, is likely to ouster former England international striker Joe Royle from the Bristol City side.

Mabbitt has been scoring freely in pre-season games.

Peter Ward, Brighton's goal-scoring ace has resolved his problems with the club.

Superstar of American soccer this season has been ace striker Oscar Fabiani of Tampa Bay Rowdies. Tampa boss Gordon Jago formerly of QPR and Millwall, picked up the Argentinean after he had hit 163 goals in 182 matches for Palestino of Chile.

Arsenal, down in the dumps through the enforced retirement of Malcolm Macdonald, got a boost when Frank Stapleton and David O'Leary agreed to accept new contracts and late news suggests that "supermac" will see another specialist this week, providing just a glimmer of hope. Arsenal say they will honour Macdonald's contract which has still two years to run, irrespective. Arsenal are ready for the new season with plenty of confidence, after beating Hamburg in Germany 3-0. Hamburg were without Kevin Keegan.

Notts County have signed Yugoslav keeper Radolka Aramovic for 20,000 pounds after Eric McManus walked out on the expiry of his contract. McManus is likely to move to Sheffield United.

Brian Clough said: "Things will have to change" after Nottingham Forest were thrashed 5-0 by Bayern Munich.

Fulham were outplayed in their pre-season game against Plymouth until one minute from time when up popped former Canberra City guest star Peter Marinello to score the winner and cap an outstanding individual display.

Another ex Canberra City guest star Ian Callaghan is back in U.K. and confirms he will again trot out with Swansea.

Sunshine, Albion meet on merger

Delegates from Sunshine City and Albion Rovers will meet this week to discuss the possibility of an amalgamation.

The meeting is only the first step in a long process to get the clubs together, but reports suggest Albion and Sunshine are closer than before to agreement.

Late last year plans for a merger were shelved because members were divided on the idea. Albion managed to maintain State League status after going broke and occupying bottom place for a long period, and this obviously swayed Albion to continue on its own for another year.

However, Albion has struggled again this season, and Sunshine's prospects of keeping its home ground on a long-term basis are still dim. These factors will add momentum to the plan to join forces.

Juventus is close to an amalgamation with Italian-backed Provisional League club Thomastown.

Juventus is $30,000 in the red and unless the club can find a sponsor in a hurry, the financial situation will stay the same.

Thomastown has its own ground (Partridge Reserve, Thomastown) and $22,000. Juve needs cash and ground. Thomastown wants State League status. An amalgamation is the obvious and likely move.

Thomastown has voted to push for a merger with Juventus, which will surely have to submit to the idea if it can't find a sponsor to ease the club's financial worries.

While three of the State League's clubs are involved with off-field matters, most other clubs have on-field worries.

Frankston City and Preston Makedonia, which are chasing the league championship, have crashed in recent games. Neither has won in its past four matches.

Green Gully and Albion Rovers are locked in a relegation battle. Albion jumped back into contention with a 1-0 win over Altona, while Green Gully lost to Slavia 2-1. Bill Vojtek's team hasn't won a game for six matches.

The Green Gully/Makedonia match at B. T. Connor Reserve this Sunday is crucial for both teams.

Makedonia, with many key players out of form, must return to the winning list and hope Frankston keeps losing.

Green Gully, which is low on quality players, will go all-out to salvage a point and hope Albion loses at home to Juventus.

Bill Vojtek is likely to return to midfield, and bring back Mick Klarin. John Patten will be rushed back after suspension. Gully's main problem area is at full back, and this will be fatal against Makedonia, which has Robert Cullen, Gary Ward and Jeff Faulkner capable of playing match-winning games on the flanks.

Albion will attack Juventus at Selwyn Park, knowing its home ground gives it an advantage. The Juventus defence isn't particularly strong, but if Albion pushed up, the likes of Bobby McGuinness, Tony Heery and Caude Lucchesi could create considerable danger.

Frankston City faces a danger game at the Showgrounds, as Slavia is a capable team. Shocking inconsistency has cost the Prahran boys dearly this season.

Croatia, which is only two points clear of fast-rising Juventus and Croydon, has a hard game against Sunshine at Olympic Park.

Sunshine, with Stewart Gilmour, Rob Nelson, Steve Ellis, Mike Dixey and Hugh Howe in top form, is capable of defeating the reigning champion.

Despite the presence of Carl Gilder, Tommy Cumming, John Gardiner and Steve Short, Croatia will be struggling to match Sunshine's fire.

In games vital to the top four, Croydon is hot favorite to defeat Hakoah at Croydon Park, and George Cross will put Altona's ability to the test.

This week's games:

SATURDAY
Albion Leyland v Juventus (Selwyn Park)

George Cross v Altona (Olympic Park)
Frankston v Slavia (Showgrounds, Ascot Vale).

SUNDAY
Croydon v Hakoah (Croydon Park)

JUVENTUS 3

CROATIA 2

Scores — Juventus: McGuinness 9th & 45th, Crino 54th; Croatia: Vaughan own goal 9th, Culina 67th.

Ground: Olympic Park. Weather: Rainy. Referee: Jim Brennan 6.

Teams, with ratings: Juventus: Hawke 8 — Sabadini 8, Vaughan 8, Della Rocca 8, Tarquinio 6 — Sabidussi 5 (Barbia 75th), Smith 6, C. Lucchesi 7 — McGuinness 8, Gillan 7 (Crino 70th) Heery 6.

Croatia: Franic 6 — Short 6, Kokoska 6, Gardiner 7, Blaver 6 (sent off, 60th); Andrews 6 (Smart 78th), Murphy 7, Aams 6 — Cumming 8, Gilder 7, Culina 7.

A rock-like performance in defence by Pat Della Rocca enabled Juventus to absorb the pressure applied by Croatia, and Bobby McGuinness did the rest in attack, giving Juve the win it needed to get back into the top four.

Croatia appeared beaten when left back Ante Blaver was sent off by referee Jim Brennan in the 60th minute, but it fought back to equalise through Branko Culina at 2-2 before Crino got the winning goal six minutes from the end.

The sending-off was over an incident behind play. Croatia's equaliser started with a good run by Cumming down the right. Cumming played a one-two with Gilder before sending over a high ball. Hawke pushed it out.

A minute later, a kick at the other end went straight up into the air and appeared to be going out for a goal kick. However, Bruno Sabidussi chased and got to it in time to cross it back for McGuinness to head home the equaliser.

Croatia came close to taking the lead when Murphy launched a powerful low drive by Terry Hawke, standing in for injured Jack Reilly, did well to deflect the shot.

McGuinness, who won acres of room from the Croatia defenders, found himself on the end of a long ball in the 49th minute and, with Franic coming out, he lobbed it over the 'keeper for Juventus' second goal.

Culina hit it back and again, Hawke blocked it but Culina persisted and got his goal at the second attempt.

Back at the other end, McGuinness stormed away on a Gillan through ball and beat Franic at the corner of the penalty area. He then headed towards the open goal but Gardiner got to him in time to push the ball over the line for a corner.

Crino replaced Gillan in the 70th minute and Carlos Berbia came on for Sabidussi five minutes later, while Croatia replaced Howard Andrews with Grant Smart.

In the 84th minute, Steve Kokoska missed a high ball about 30 metres from goal. It went behind him to Crino who ran through, despite the presence of Smart and Gardiner, before hammering the ball low past Franic from 25 metres for the winning goal. —LAURIE SCHWAB

HAKOAH 0 GEO. CROSS 0.

Ground: Middle Park Stadium.

HAKOAH: O'Hara — Owen (McNeil), Dosen, Baker, Jordanou — Rigby, Topolanski, Gadsby — Rooney, Feigenbaum, Loh.

GEORGE CROSS: Mattson — Cutajar, Maitland, Hooper, Barron — Morgan, Mizzi, Castiello — Cowan, Thom, Paparas.

Hakoah and George Cross, which both finished in the top four in 1978, are left in no man's land, having the form and sufficient points to forget about relegation, but being just out of firing range for the top four.

George Cross, with Derek Barron having an excellent game as an overlapping full back, had a lot of the ball against Hakoah, but failed to penetrate.

David Baker was outstanding in the Hakoah back four, with goalkeeper Mike O'Hara also playing well.

Steve Gadsby, playing in midfield after spending most of the season in defence, was another good player. The Cross midfield, however, failed to match its good defensive work with equal attacking play.

CROYDON 2 FRANKTON 1
 Scorers: Croydon - Brogan (2)
 80th, 81st Frankton - Webster
 pen. 81st. Ground: Gordon Park Crowd: est. 900. Weather: steady rain. Referee: Tom Sterling 8.
 Cautions: McCuskey (F).
 CROYDON: Edwards 9 - Spink

 FRANKTON: Peterson 8.5 - V.

 Perrott 8 (Tulloch 70th min) - G.
 Bannan 8, Cooper 7, Coulson 6,
 (Webster 70th min) - Campbell 6,
 Swincoe 8, B. Young 8.
 Goalkeeper: Mick Edwards was the hero of Croydon City after making a crucial penalty save which sent Frankton City to its second defeat in the State League championship.
 Edwards saved Willie Coulson's
 8th minute penalty, and this inspired Croydon to run up a 2-0 lead by the 61st minute.
 However, Croydon had to survive
 Frankton's late comeback in which substitute Keith Webster scored a penalty and Campbell blazed over the bar from five metres with the goal open.
 But Frankton didn't deserve to win. Freddy Bannan's team didn't really start playing until the last 20 minutes and Croydon should have had the game sewn up by then.
 Ged and Vince Bannan virtually carried Frankton. The pair worked like trojans to drive Frankton forward, and fight gamely to keep their side in with a chance.
 That chance came when Kevin Swincoe came to life late in the match, and almost snatched a point for Frankton.
 Croydon had many good players, with Joe Tront leading the way. He made both goals, and displayed excellent skill in the heavy rain.
 Dave Brogan popped up with two goals, and Charlie Murphy worked non-stop in midfield.
 Edwards didn't make a mistake in goal, and the defence was solid, but showed signs of stress fractures when Frankton pushed up in a final flurry.
 City's four game slump could come to end with the likely return of injured striker Noel Mitten this week.

 ager Tony Vrzina will axe two big-name players after the shock defeat at the hands of Sunshine City.
 Vrzina said Gary Ward, George
 McMillan, Lydie Petrovski and Eric Lesbirel were in line for the chop.
 "We may as well have young reserve players in the team. At least they would try their hardest," he said. "I'm sick and tired of dropping stupid points because the so-called stars don't feel like putting the effort into their game."
 Sunshine City was the superior team, and deserved victory.

 McCormick, C. Nisbet (Greecean half time).
 Albion Rovers' coach Bill McArthur gambled and won, with the result that the Rovers are back with a chance to avoid relegation.
 McArthur fielded two 16-year-olds - John Saliba and Craig Nisbet - in an attempt to inject enthusiasm. Rovers fought with great determination and scored the winning goal in the 87th minute.
 That came when Bill McCormick worked the ball to Mike D'Sylva, who cracked a drive into the net.
 The game was physical, with several injuries. Bill McIntyre of Albion was sent off after a clash with goalkeeper Hans van der Poel.
 Albion fought back with physical pressure, instead of trying to out-play Albion.

 Ajax looked good for the first 20 minutes and the last 10 minutes.
 For the rest of the time, Slavia made the home team look second-rate.
 In sharp contrast to Ajax's play, Slavia was strong and productive in midfield, the players ran well off the ball and the forwards chafed and pressured when they lost possession.
 With Albion Rovers beating
 Altona 1-0, Ajax is now in real danger of relegation.
 All that can be hoped for is that the players lift themselves out of this hard-working club out of the mire, and that the return of John Patten and Mick Kiarin makes a difference.
 Neither of those two played again against Slavia - Patten because he was suspended, Kiarin due to injury.
 Had it not been for some good work by centre backs John Cain and Peter Donaldson, and the reluctance of Steve Aldridge and Jim Williams to shoot at goal, Ajax would have been well and truly hammered.
 Ajax didn't come to life until Fred Beller came on and took Billy Vojtek's place as central striker, freeing Vojtek for an attacking mid-field role. With Vojtek finding more space and putting himself in boots and all, Ajax managed to keep the ball in attack for longer periods.
 What stood out most clearly is that Ajax needs physical strength up front. John Cain would provide it if he played centre forward.
 The match started with David Hogben shadowing Jim Williams and Jamie O'Donnell marking Aldridge. Williams and Aldridge won these duels easily.
 However, it was Ajax that went

Axe for penalty kicks?
 Its odds on that the bonus points system will not be the only competition rule axed by the Philips Soccer League before the next season begins.
 The system of deciding Philips Cup matches in which teams are level after 90 minutes play and then a period of extra time, will also go by the board.
 Opinions by highly placed Australian Soccer Federation officials following the Newcastle KB United-St George Cup semi-final at the International Sports Centre in Newcastle seem to ensure that the change will come.
 That match, in which not a goal was scored, was decided on penalty kicks, St George winning 3-2.
 It is an absurd, and unfair, way of deciding matches, particularly one so important as a Cup semi-final.
 There might be some excuse if the time schedule was particularly tight. But in the case of the Cup competition it is not. The final, between Adelaide City and St George, will not be played for another five weeks. There was plenty of time to replay the match.
 This is not a whinge because KB United was defeated, but is one that has caused criticism for a long time - even as long ago as last season when KB United was also eliminated in a Cup semi-final on the penalty kick count.
 The rules of the competition state that "the taking of kicks from the penalty mark (to obtain a result) shall not be considered part of the match in the circumstances of determining which team shall proceed to a later stage of a knock-out competition."
 How then can the taking of penalty kicks decide a match if they "shall not be considered part of the match?"
 The rules for Cup matches are that they be of 90 minutes duration with extra time to be played if they are drawn.
 Australian Soccer bases much of its method and conduct on English Football Association methods. It is not likely that the day will come when the FIFA allows it Cup matches to be decided by penalty kicks. What an outcry there would be if it did come to some such move!

Roy Drinkwater (right), the Newcastle captain, prepares to tackle Heidelberg's Gary Cole.
 Newcastle KB United's captain Roy Drinkwater, who has been recalled to the NZ squad but is performing poorly, has been recalled to the NZ squad but is performing poorly. He was forced to leave the NZ World Cup squad but he has his fingers crossed, hoping he will be wanted again.
 The NZ team, in its build-up to the World Cup qualifying matches, is to send the side on tour in November, with matches to be played in England, Europe and the Middle East.
 It is little wonder that Drinkwater is so highly regarded among NZ Soccer enthusiasts. He built up a proud record while playing in his National League for, apart from being the Player of the Year in 1975, he became the only player in NZ Soccer history not to be on a losing side in three seasons of Cup football.
 That was when he played for Christchurch, which won the NZ National Cup competition, a knock-out event similar to the Philips Cup, in 1974-75. He was the only player in the Christchurch team who played in all the Cup matches in the three years. He was also in the side when it won the National League premiership twice and once finished in second place.
 However, while Drinkwater is hoping that the NZ selectors will want him again he would prefer to be a member of the Australian squad for which he is also realistically qualified. He considers he is well worth a place in Rudi Gutendorf's line-up.
 "I know that I'm playing as well as any sweeper who has been tried by Rudi!" he said.
 His play during the present season supports Drinkwater's claim. Not only is he in top place in the KB United's Best and Fairest Player competition but is also among the leaders in a similar national competition.
 Drinkwater joined Newcastle KB United when it was admitted to the Philips League last year and his first season was sometimes frustrating. As captain he had to help mould a band of players who were, in most cases, strangers to each other, but some goals he scored for opposing teams brought him unwelcome and usually undeserved, criticism.
 His goal debt - those scored against his own team - was too often increased by the shortcomings of team-mates, goalkeepers who came too far out of the goal and defenders who did not cover or position themselves properly.
 It is different this season. Drinkwater is the team's leading goalscorer.
 He also looks to be a better, more mature, player. This is because the team he helped so much to build has settled down.
 That means that his responsibilities are fewer since the players now know what he wants and his style of playing.
 The players are fortunate to have such a talented and dedicated player to lead them. He is able to set an example the young players in his charge need so much.

NEWCASTLE TO AVENGE MAULING BY LIONS?
 Newcastle KB United's match against Brisbane Lions at the International Sports Centre on Saturday could be one of considerable importance as it bid to reach a place in the top four on the competition table.
 The team did not fare well in the first round, going down 3-0 in Brisbane with almost a make-shift team. The match was played at a time when KB United was heavily beset by injury. It had many difficulties in fielding a team anything like that which manager-coach Alan Vest wanted.
 Since then KB United has climbed the competition table steadily while Brisbane Lions has sunk to a lowly position.
 Vest will not decide on a team for this important match until the players injured in the match at Canberra last Sunday are given fitness tests. However, it is certain that Graham Seddon will be on the sideline. It is doubtful that he will play again this season so serious are his leg and groin injuries. It could be a make-or-break

THE F.A. GUIDE TO TRAINING AND COACHING

ALLEN WADE

This book has been written to present the experience of The Football Association over the years in the fields of coaching and training. It is written by the F.A.'s Director of Coaching who says: "A Coach's aim is to find the most economical way of causing a player to become a better player." Mr. Wade, himself, had found a most economical and lucid way of putting across this generalization in print. For the sake of clarity he has divided the book into three parts: Principles, Systems and Tactics of the Game; Second Principles of Training and Training Methods; Third Principles of Training and Training Methods. The text is presented in a manner that will make it clearly understood to player and coach alike and it will be an important addition to the sports libraries of schools. Keen to the text, and making the reader's progress both easier and more instructive, are over 140 line drawings and over 80 photographic illustrations. A special feature of this book is the training schedules. For the professional player, specimen schedules are offered for both off-season and in-season training, while for the amateur, which includes schoolboy and youth players, programs fitted to the needs of footballers with limited time and facilities are separately drafted. Specialized training for goalkeepers is also recommended as being in a department necessarily distinct from other positions on the field of play. The theme of the book takes full account of modern tactical development and emphasizes the need for the modern footballer to read the game and understand the systems and tactics that are outlined.

PALINKAS JUNAK UTAKMICE

Do sada je JUST igrao, a protivnik davao golove. U Adelaide se dogodilo suprotno. Adelaide City je poveo sa 1:0, drzao "plavi" gol u opsadi 80 minuta, ali JUST je malo više sportske sreće mogao do pobjede. U 81. minuti četiri puta su "plavi" napadali mrežu, protivnik je odmah odmah odigrao dva gola. Dragan Vasic je isto tako imao samo golmana pred sobom, ali je sutra suviše mlako. Josip Plicanec je varkom teta ostavio iza sebe par igrača i kada se spremao da lošije istragolima golmana, oboren je na zemlju u vrckom stilu. Šta vrediti sto je sudija pokazao žuti karton kada je idealna situacija nastala u povratku dva gola koja je postigao Joe Palinkas, zaslužujući poseban spomen. Ova puta je proleto sa lopotom između tri igrača i hladnokrvno sa 100 kaznenog prostora po zemlji savladao golmana. JUST je igrao više defenzivno nego što je to potrebno. Ovog puta je upali, ali drugi put moglo je. U svakom slučaju ova dva boda mnogo znače za ekipu, koja je demoralisana stigla u Adelaide. Na prste se mogu brojati igrači, koji su verovali da će pobediti. Pred surset sa Helasom, ova pobjeda je poznata moralna injekcija, koja je JUST postavila na pravo mesto, koje je odavno zaslužilo lepom igrom.

A.E.K. PO DRUGI PUT U MELBURNU

Dest golova u Sijedne, donekle su popravili loš utisak koji je A.E.K. ostavio na prve dve utakmice u Australiji, narocito u Melburnu. Ako nista drugo, navala je pokazala da zna kako se daju golovi. Zbog toga će surset A.E.K. - Alexander na Olimpijski Parku u sredini nedelje na Olimpijski Parku biti posebna poslastica za nogomete gurmane. Videtemo da li će Gary Cole moći da ponovi svoj podvig iz prvog susreta, kada je goluruk pobedio renomiranu odbranu grčkog prvaka. Utakmica počinje u 8 sati uveče.

U.S. J. U. K. AKO RAKOVI

Tako nesto se može reći za Frankston, Makedoniju i Croatia. Sva tri kluba idu u nazad, tako da su necekivano Atlanta City, Juventus i Croydon City postali kandidati za prva četiri mesta, ako već ne mogu biti prvaci. Dugocerasli favoriti za prvo mesto, Makedonija i Croatia, mogu biti postati iz četvorih sastava sa ovakvom igrom i rezultatom. Steta, jer su mogli da kompletiraju uspeh svih klubova sursetu Australije u lokalnim prvenstvima. Dalmatinac je prvak Perta, Croatia prvak u Kanberi i Sijedne, Beograd je izbio na ceto table u Adelaide. Kad bi bilo slozni imali bi i prvaka Philips Nether.

OSTALI REZULTATI

POLONIA - KEILOR CITY 3:0 (1:0). Keilor City je igrao dobro prvih 20 i zadnjih 20 minuta, ali na kida nije uspeo da postigne gol, jer je suviše mlako pred protivničkog golom. U poslednjim minutima nastupio je najbolji igrač u ovom mestu, potpuno uklopio. Ipak Keilor City je uspevao i polaziti od ostalih kandidata za ispadanje, a valjda će se u zadnja dva kola probuditi i navala.

FOOTSCRAY U.S.T. - PORT MELBOURNE 2:3 (1:0). Nisu cista posla za drugo mesto. "Plavi" su u poslednjim minutima JUST je vodio 2:0 do 75 minuta, ali je ipak izubio tri boda. To se može dogoditi, ali neki golovi koje je primio golman Milutin Cris zaista su poklonjeni. Posto se oslobodio straha da će ispasti, drugi tim JUST je počeo da igra nedgovorno, zabavljajući na odgovornost prema ostalim klubovima koji se na sportski način bore za prvo mesto. JUST-ove golove su postigli Cvetan Talevski i Milos Simic. Do 75. minuta "plavi" su pružili jednu od najboljih igara i svih sezibama i bda su bukvalesto.

CARLTON/SRBIA - CENTRAL ALTONA/SLOGA 3:3 (3:3). Izubidivlja igra, koja je nastala iz poslednjeg rezultata. U prvih četiri minuta Central Altona je dala dva gola, a za idućih 15 Carlton je uzvratilo sa tri. Kod stanja 3:2 u svoju korist, Carlton je mogao da osigura pobedu, ali je najbolji strelac Ljuba Stojanovic iz penala pogodio stolu. Nekoliko minuta kasnije sudija je osudio penal za Central Altona, iz koga je izjednačio. U poslednjim minutima, kada je Central Altona mogao da osigura pobedu, strelac Ljuba Stojanovic i 2. Miladin Bjelogrić za Srbiju, Ljube Koteski, Cane Najdovski i Peci Ristevski za Slogu. Dok su igrači bili, publika nije bila na visini. U predgri je rezerva Carltona pogodio Central Altona sa 2:0 (1:0). Obadva gola je postigao Zarko Pejovic.

HAWKSBERN - BULEN 4:1. "Jastrebovi" iz Carnegie su igrali u postima, ali su kida pobedili borbenog protivnika. Kada su pristigli ostali rezultati uspostavilo se da je ova pobjeda donela ceta Steva Belackanja naslov sampona, kida pre kraja prvenstva. Samo teardne i kida poslednje dve utakmice izgubi sa desetak golova razlike, Hawksbern neće biti prvak.

SMOONEE PONDS - PELISTER/PASOACE VALE 6:1 (1:1). Igrali Pelister proslavljajući svaki prvak u kalendaru, zaime, u poslednjim minutima, kada su se igrali, došli su do pobjede. Pocaoni gol na ovu utakmicu postigao je Tome Apostolovski. Rezerva je izgubila sa 0:4, a dan re toga sa 0:5 od Monbuka za rezervni kup.

INDUSTRIJSKA LIGA

BOSCH DYNAMO - TARAX 0:1 (0:0). Bez povredjenog Ibre Hadziabdic i bolesnog Slobodana Lukica Tarax je jedva izvukao dva vana boda, koja su ga put u dole, sto je jedva na prvo mesto. Igrao je imao sanse za vucu pobedu, ali jedini gol je dao stari Iliac Slobodan Zoraja, koji se to tada vije cudio nego video. Nije bila sanse za gol, medjutim Zoraja je otvorio sebi put kao Mojsije kroz Crveno More. Sto je najvaznije, odlucna odbrana na celu sa Andrijom Koca i Jovom Milinov uspeja je da sacuva pobedu na domaćem terenu.

PEGASUS - R.A.C.V. 5:0. Leteci konji iz mitologije ponovi je rasiro svoja krila i pregazio poljske veterane. Strelci: Vili Ovar 2, Taylor, Stefan Fus i Ljubisa Pavlovic po jedan. Iduce nedelje na Wembley Parku, u polufinalu Industrijskog Kupa nastupaju dva stara rivala Tarax i Pegasus. Ova utakmica je dio starog rivalstva Tarax i Pegasus. U prvom poluvremenu "plavi" su se razigrali i zasluženo pobedili protivnika, koji ovog puta nije zabavusao (jer nije na poslu). Strelci: Stevan Kosovac, Igor Mukavec i Voja Milekovic. Najbolji igrači za Diefcraft bili su Stetan, Golebic, Muhamed Tubic, Igor Mukavec, Stevan Kosovac i Voja Milekovic.

JUNIORI

Darpo Bobs - Footscray U.S.T. - St. Mark 1:1 (0:0). Strelac: Isak Iosob. "Plavi" su igrali dobro, ali je protivnik bio ravnopravan, pa je rezultat realan.

The Victorian Leagues

SECOND DIVISION

FITZROY ALEXANDER 2

KEILOR AUSTRIA 0. Austria team, Bryden, Althelm (Cabrera 8ist), Johnstone, Ghrac, Brewerton, Campbell, Dorward, Webb, Craig, Beller, Peretis (Schoeffner 8ist).

Austria dropped from first to second place on the Second Division ladder as a result of its loss.

The championship title is now open to leader Port Melbourne, Keilor, Austria, Doncaster Rovers and Richmond, which has the best goal difference in the league.

To make sure of promotion, Austria has to beat Footscray U.S.T. at home on Saturday and Doncaster Rovers away the following week.

The Doncaster v Port Melbourne clash this Saturday will help Austria, no matter what the result.

Alexander deserved its victory against Austria, as it had more chances and more corners.

Timmy Johnstone was Austria's outstanding player.

Australia's reserves had an impressive 5-2 victory, scoring three of its goals after being reduced to 10 men by the sending off of Helmut Ewinger.

Best scorers were Guester Ganglmaier (2), Chris Gerick (2) and Ewinger.

DOONCESTOWN KNOX CITY 2

Doncaster Rovers drew 0-0 against tough opponents Knox City at Donvale Reserve to earn a valuable point.

In the previous encounter this season, both teams scored three goals each in the first half.

From start to finish, in Saturday's match, there was a stalemate with hard crunching tackles which did not allow either team to build many attacking moves.

Doncaster had the opportunity to take the lead in the first half but Alan Williams ended low to hit the ball hitting the foot of the post.

Knox had the chance to go ahead in the second half but a Johnny Howarth shot struck the crossbar and the rebound was put straight to the Rovers keeper.

Best players: Tommy Smith, Ian Humber and Alan Cooper for Doncaster. Steve Pong and Geoff Gerish for Knox.

Doncaster could not afford to lose this game as a loss would undoubtedly put Division 1 promotion out of their reach. The 0-0 draw kept their hopes alive and provided them with their remaining two games of the season, which will be against Port Melbourne at Port Melbourne, this coming Saturday and Keilor Australia at Donvale Reserve on Saturday, September 1st.

FIRST DIVISION

BOX HILL 1 (Valentine) DOVE- TON 0

BOX HILL 1, Morgan - G. McLeod, Leskovic, Brownlie, K. Patterson - S. Patterson, Cupilo, Taylor.

The excellent form of Donald Brownlie at sweater was a adding bonus to Box Hill, which had a satisfying 1-0 victory over Dove-ton.

Min was satisfying because earlier this season Dove-ton caught Box Hill on the wrong foot, and humiliated them with a 5-1 win.

Brownlie's form was significant because it was his first game as sweeper this season. He's a natural sweeper, but had been used effectively as a forward.

Big Donald, a member of Box Hill's first team, Division 2, was out of the game for several years, but was now playing to be a key figure in future Box Hill teams.

Brownlie led the Box Hill backline and received good support from Greig, McLeod, Helmut Leskovic and Kyle Patterson.

With this solid rearguard, Box Hill held Dove-ton off and finally scored the vital goal in the 88th minute.

Min McLeod hit an inch-perfect cross for Ray Taylor to nod the ball down for Michael Valentine. Valentine forced the ball home from close range.

Every Box Hill player contributed to the victory in a determined display.

Valentine was excellent in mid-field, and was aided by Ian McLeod and Paul Corke, who did a lot of good defensive work.

Centre forward Noel Cupido had an outstanding game, and is now in the form he displayed at the Split match.

It was a more confident Olex Cables team, who defeated Fire-makers United Olex scored first with a ball from Anthony Crampston.

Fire-makers equalised with a goal in the first half, but Crampston's time with their only consolation for the game - by David Langford who took it from thirty-five yards out.

The second half saw the winning goal by Noel Wallace who had been brought on as a reserve only three minutes earlier.

A jubilant ANZ Bank won their first match for the season. Anthony McGuigan scored a goal for TAA B at the 25 minute mark and it took another thirty minutes for the equaliser the goal from Spiro Katiforis.

In the second half ANZ showed a more confident team, and a centre forward to centre forward which resulted in their two goal win. ANZ deserved their win on the day. They start of the season before an injury upset him.

Scott Patterson came close to scoring twice, and after the second week, running, Ray Taylor surprised everyone with his enthusiasm, backed up with a good performance.

Goalkeeper Graham Morgan was often in the action, but recorded his eighth clean sheet for the season.

In the last games, Morgan has conceded only four goals, three of which were penalties and the other an own goal by a Box Hill defender.

MARIBYRN 3 (Sokolak) 2

39th min and 46th min; Horfink 68th min; KEILOR CITY 0.

MARIBYRNING: Dzielakowski, Wasio, J. Dimitris, Sveda, Raczkowski, P. Szapnik, Horfink, R. Liparski, Lalic (in P. Altieri 50 min), Sekulski, Kresinski (in), Esposito 27th min.

KEILOR CITY: Dimopoulos, Trajkovski, Derusovski, Klyuk, Minski, Prestisi, Vellouvan, Van Leeuwen, Skorsis, Markovski (Kittanos 85th min), Stojekski.

For a change, Maribyrn got on with the job after taking an early lead and in doing so scored two goals to help Polina defeat Keilor 3-0 at the end of the first half.

The visitors who nearly took the lead when in the fourth minute, long kick by Derusovski and Ted Rahwalski did a scissor's kick off the line took pressure side from Maribyrn.

Maribyrn however soon settled down when in the 10th minute a shot by Rickard was blocked by a straight to Dimopoulos, who fumbled but recovered just in time to beat Ron Horfink who was following.

Maribyrn finally took the lead in the 39th minute when a low pass by Brendan Lalic found Sekulski whose shot rocketed off the Keilor City goal into the net.

After the break Maribyrn were forced to make their second substitution when Lalic twisted his ankle and he was replaced by Phil Alder.

Knowing that their one goal lead wasn't enough Maribyrn continued to attack and kept the lead further ahead when a shot by Ralph Esposito was brilliantly tipped over the bar.

Dimopoulos, but a minute later the home side scored a second goal when a through ball by Sekulski found Horfink, who had broken through the fifth goal for the season.

A minute later Rahwalski was booked for dissent after a free was awarded against him and that he kicked the post with Dzielakowski being.

With only six minutes to go Maribyrn scored a third goal when Peter Capnik crossed from the line to Sekulski and he easily headed Polina to score his second for the match.

THIRD DIVISION

COBURG 4 (Wilmit 2, Hojaki, D. Jones) PRAHRAN 1 (Kobal)

COBURG: S. Crooks, J. Daly, A. Bolton, J. Frampton, J. Jones, M. Spiteri, D. Jones, B. Malcolm, J. Curcio, B. Hojaki, A. Wilmit. Subs: S. J. Kull, J. Kull.

PRAHRAN: T. Godwin, F. Jackson, S. Freind, Z. Lazarevic, D. Hovick, R. Sawyer, M. McCullum, M. Towers, J. Koba, D. Tracey, S. Moyle. Subs: J. Henderson, J. McKinnon, B. Ellis.

Having no fears of relegation with only two games remaining, Coburg played total attacking soccer to easily defeat Prahran 4-1.

Dave Jones, who put in a fine performance on the right wing, was the instrumental force in Coburg's forward moves. He was to become a thorn in the side of the Prahran defence with his speedy runs and intelligent distribution of the ball.

Coburg opened the scoring in the 34th minute when Hovick put away an unselfish square pass by Jones.

Prahran players protested that the ball had been headed away from the Prahran defence by the hand of a Coburg player. However, the referee did not confer with his linesman and the goal stood.

Prahran had a more serious attempt at goal in the first half and new keeper Crooks was forced to push the ball away for a goal.

Early in the second half Tracey got in with a powerful header but Bolton saved off the line for Coburg.

After 56 minutes Coburg replaced striker Hojaki with Deans and in the following twelve minutes Coburg split the last-minute Prahran defence to knock in three consecutive goals.
